The Rosewood Corporation and the Caroline Rose Hunt Family Donate PPE to Dallas First Responders During COVID-19 Crisis

DALLAS—(April 13, 2020) To help protect Dallas first responders on the front lines of the COVID-19 fight, the Rosewood Corporation and the Caroline Rose Hunt family are donating 6,000 “Multi-Shield” face protectors to Dallas Fire and Rescue (DFR) and 50,000 packets of single-use hand sanitizer to the Dallas Police Department (DPD).

The donations are a direct response to the City’s request for more PPE in the community to help first responders stay safe while serving Dallas residents.

“These face shields are absolutely essential for our DFR team to serve the public,” said Dallas Fire Rescue Deputy Chief Tami Kayea. “If a DFR member treats a COVID-19 positive patient without one, they must be isolated for up to 14 days before rejoining the team.”

The face shields and the hand sanitizer were produced by two of The Rosewood Corporation’s manufacturing companies. MultiCam and INW Manufacturing, both based in North Texas, re-purposed their facilities and operations to design and manufacture PPE during the crisis.

“During this critical time, it’s more important than ever that we innovate and work together to help protect our local first responders as they put their lives on the line to keep our community safe,” said Lynn Fisher, Rosewood Director of Corporate Giving. “The Rosewood Corporation and the Caroline Rose Hunt family are proud to serve and give back to this community that Mrs. Hunt loved so much.”

About the Rosewood Corporation

The Rosewood Corporation is a family-owned company with diverse worldwide operations and investments. The Rosewood Corporation is wholly-owned by the Caroline Hunt Trust Estate, which was established in 1935 by legendary oil man H.L.
